

Coming this fall, the 12-part series:

When Tomorrow Never Comes.

A 12-part series (new installments posted every other Tuesday) chronicling the events surrounding thirty-eight year old Jason Rybek, former Marine and Department of Homeland Security employee, who was looking forward to tomorrow, his wedding day, and the new life he would start with his bride-to-be, Maria Silva. But his tomorrow and the assumed tomorrows for most of the world, never come.

Just four high altitude nuclear blasts have created electromagnetic pulses (EMPs) that have succeeded in wiping out most electrical generating equipment and electronic devices. Jason finds his world transformed into the technological equivalent of the 17th century. A time in which the modern civilization needed to support seven billion people is not remotely prepared to cope.

In less than 30 minutes World War III had been fought and lost. All that remains is to survive the aftermath.

Could you?